Nebraska Ornithologists' Union General Business Meeting

Saturday, May 15, 2010, Chadron

7:00 p.m. — Urban called the meeting to order.

Urban thanked everyone who worked to plan the spring meeting. First-time meeting attendees introduced themselves.

Minutes of the previous meeting were accepted.

Treasurer's report - NOU is in reasonable financial shape, but expenses are beginning to exceed income. Board may consider raising dues in the fall. People going paperless will help. Urban asked the members to let him know what their feelings are about the potential raising of membership dues. Report accepted.

New Web Site - Urban thanked Roland Barth who initiated the call to update the site, thanked Robin for her work on the previous site, and thanked Janis and Kathy for their work on the new one.

Janis thanked Steve Dinsmore for his work on The Nebraska Bird Review, and announced Joe Gubanyi will be the new technical editor.

The fall NOU meeting is September 24-26 in McCook. The 2011 spring meeting will be May 20-22 in Norfolk.

Wayne announced there would be 2 more years of data collection for the breeding bird survey. Those who have done 12 blocks get a hat. All collected data is in the computer database.

Jill Liske-Clark of the Nebraska Bird Partnership reported that Clem Klaphake has succeeded Paul Johnsgard as NOU's representative on the NBP steering committee.

Election of Officers - The following slate of officers for the NOU was presented by Don Paseka: Urban Lehner – President; Nancy Leonard - Vice President; Kevin Poague – Secretary; Betty Grenon – Treasurer; Janis Paseka – Editor; Anita Breckbill – Librarian; Jan Johnson - Director-at-Large.

No nominations came from the floor. The slate was accepted by a vote of members. Meeting adjourned.

Respectively submitted,
Kevin Poague
Secretary
